Scholarship description

The Prize was established in 2017 and is funded by Atlantis Healthcare and the Department of Psychological Medicine.

The main purpose of the Prize is to recognise and reward the PhD in Health Psychology student who has published a paper in the highest ranked peer reviewed scientific journal each year.

Selection process

- Nomination is made to the Scholarships Office
- The Prize is awarded by the University of Auckland Council on the recommendation of the Head of Department of Psychological Medicine

Regulations

1. The Prize will be known as the Atlantis Healthcare Health Psychology PhD Publication Prize.
2. The annual value of the Prize will be $500.
3. The Prize will be awarded annually to the PhD in Health Psychology student who has published a paper as first author in the peer reviewed scientific journal with the highest impact factor in the previous year, relative to other PhD in Health Psychology students who published a paper that year (see Notes i-ii).
4. The Prizes will be awarded by the University of Auckland Council on the recommendation of the Director of the Health Psychology Programme.
5. In the event of a tie, the Director of the Health Psychology Programme will determine, in consultation with other members of the Health Psychology Postgraduate Committee, if the Prize may be shared. Both awardees will be awarded an amount equal to the original prize value.
6. The University of Auckland Council has the power to amend or vary these regulations provided that there is no departure from the main purpose of the Prizes.
7. Notes [i]-[iii] below are deemed to be regulations.
I. The published paper must have appeared in an edition of a peer reviewed scientific journal between 1 January and 31 December of the previous year.

II. The highest impact factor will be determined by the current rankings listed in the Journal Citation Reports (JCR).

III. These regulations are subject to Senate and Council approval.
