Student Disability Services

The University of Auckland provides a range of skills, inclusive and equitable. Student disability services (SDS) support students with a wide range of impairments, both visible and invisible. Students who live with an impairment that requires their students, or who have experienced or are experiencing discrimination, are encouraged to contact us for a confidential chat about how we may be able to help them succeed at the University. Please encourage your students to get in touch with us before they begin their first semester, especially if they require special conditions for your course. If you suspect students are experiencing any issues, please email:

Scholarships

Scholarships and awards for students with disabilities

Check out our four new scholarships for applicants with disabilities. This is a fantastic opportunity for students and scholars alike and is designed to support students who have not met the guaranteed entry score for the programme of their choice. The University of Auckland is committed to being safe, inclusive and equitable. The publication aims to provide current and future undergraduate Arts students with an opportunity to assist their own learning by contributing to a shared academic knowledge base. The publication is open access and beneficial in the first year of university study. At the University of Auckland, we send an email when the applicant nominates their school referee. Opening the door to University success: Undergraduate Targeted Admission Scheme (UTAS)

UTAS is the University of Auckland targeted admission scheme for eligible Māori and applicants from some equity groups, including Pacific applicants, applicants with disabilities, applicants from low socio-economic backgrounds (school leavers from decile 6 or less) and applicants from refugee backgrounds. UTAS offers undergraduate places to eligible Māori, Pacific applicants, applicants with disabilities and applicants from refugee backgrounds.

We'd also like to highlight the guaranteed University accommodation that forms part of the new scholarships. For students outside Auckland, central and affordable rental accommodation is available. From the Schools Partnership Office

The SPO team has been busy hosting Parent Information Seminars, attending careers expos across New Zealand. The team enjoyed hosting careers teachers at our Courses and Careers day on Saturday 27 August.

LINK Conference: Keynote speaker
Khylee Quince (Te Herenga Waka, Pataka Ako) is an adjunct senior lecturer in the Faculty of Arts, University of Auckland. Her work focuses on the politics of curriculum and pedagogy in the education of Indigenous students and in the development of teaching and learning resources that support culturally inclusive pedagogy for Indigenous students.

So how do an externship or work experience help?
Cedric believes that for his degree, an internship is a better option than an externship but that the decision depends on what you want to achieve.

Work on your attitude and behaviour. You’ll get a high value out of this if you have a good attitude. Interns and personally, employers are looking for the kind of person who can cope with pressures and stress.

Cedric’s tips
On the one hand, an internship allows you to be working in a real job, to immerse yourself in the world of work and put your study into action.

Don’t focus solely on your academic achievements. Develop your people skills, networking and other attributes that will make you a successful professional in your chosen career.

Cedric’s networks widened as he met a broad range of key staff, students and community members. Cedric says he formed valuable connections that became important as he progressed through his degree.

Humans vs Zombies
Students take part in our annual game of zombies-themed tag on city campus. The event brings together all students, staff and visitors, from Residential Workshops, which are high-stakes, fun and challenging, to L.E.D Talks, which are short, punchy TED-style talks from leaders in the business community.

Humans vs Zombies is a chance to step out of your comfort zone, gain work and team skills, networking and other attributes that will make you a valuable professional in your chosen career.

The programme is divided over three weekends, from 9 to 11 October, which accommodate busy students. Each weekend boasts different activities, which are all held at the University of Auckland’s home campus at Owen G Glenn, Level 6, 0405, which is available for free to Auckland students.

Students who are active volunteers may be eligible for the Leadership and Service Award, which is recorded on their academic transcript.

Students had the opportunity to check out a wide range of charities, services and clubs, as well as attend a variety of lectures and workshops. Activities included horse riding, snorkelling, hiking, surfing and more.
