We are Waipapa Taumata Rau, we greet, we call to the many who desire the sustenance of knowledge.

Welcome, come forth and fasten to the carved meeting house, Tāne-nui-a-rangi.

Ko Waipapa Taumata Rau mātou, e mihi nei, e karanga nei ki te mārea e hiahia ana ki te kai i te mātauranga

Nau mai, haere mai, herea mai tōu waka ki te whare whakairo o Tāne-nui-a-rangi
When you embark on a Law degree you will gain skills and knowledge that will equip you for a wide range of careers within the legal profession and beyond. You will develop analytical, communication and research skills. You will also build your understanding of legal ethics, professional responsibility and the role that law plays in society.

Auckland Law School is the top-ranked law school in Aotearoa New Zealand and one of the best law schools in the world.* We are committed to improving access to justice for all Kiwi communities through teaching, research, service and engagement. Many of our staff have contributed to significant advances in the Aotearoa justice system. Our graduates can be found in the world’s best law firms, the judiciary, in non-governmental organisations and many successful companies around the world.

Auckland Law School offers one undergraduate degree – the Bachelor of Laws. High-achieving students may be invited to transfer to the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) programme after the first two years of study. You may also complement your legal study through a conjoint degree.

As a student at Auckland Law School you will benefit from the largest range of undergraduate law courses available anywhere in New Zealand; the expertise of some of this country’s leading law scholars; and resources like the purpose-built Davis Law Library. You’ll be part of a tight-knit community, with fantastic social and support networks available and lecturers who are invested in your success.

Te Rākau Ture, our Māori law students’ association provide a wonderful social and academic support network for tauira Māori – your whānau away from whānau. Our Pacific Island Law Students’ Association (PILSA) works closely with other Pacific associations, building strong community links and keeping Pasifika values at the forefront of their operations.

From the Auckland University Law Revue to student competitions, from social and sports events to seminars and workshops, there are countless opportunities to participate, meet other law students and forge life-long friendships.

We welcome your interest in Auckland Law School and look forward to having you join us in 2023.

*Ko tō ringa ki te ture, ko tō ngākau ki te pono. May your hands possess the law, and your heart possess the truth. (An adaptation of Sir Āpirana Ngata’s ‘E tipu, e rea’.
Sir Āpirana gained his Bachelor of Laws from Auckland Law School in 1896 – he was the first Māori to complete a degree at a New Zealand university.)

A warm welcome to New Zealand’s highest ranked university

Bachelors of Laws Part I

The Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is a four-year (eight-semester) degree if you are studying full-time. It is studied in four parts (Parts I-IV). Unlike other undergraduate degrees, the LLB does not have a major attached to it. Everyone who earns an LLB degree acquires a broad background in law.

Recent graduate: Bachelor of Laws

Why study law

The Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is a four-year (eight-semester) degree if you are studying full-time. It is studied in four parts (Parts I-IV). Unlike other undergraduate degrees, the LLB does not have a major attached to it. Everyone who earns an LLB degree acquires a broad background in law.

Bachelors of Laws Part I

For first year Law, you will apply for LLB Part I and one other bachelors degree programme to satisfy the Law Part I requirement for five non-Law courses.

If you gain selection into LLB Part II you can continue studying your second degree as a conjoint with Law. A conjoint degree gives you the opportunity to acquire a wider knowledge base and broaden your career opportunities.

You can focus on non-Law subjects of your choice to supplement the area of law you wish to specialise in or apply complementary legal knowledge to another field. Find more information and explore our wide range of conjoint options on page 6. Additionally, Part II students may wish to continue only with Law courses and work towards a single LLB degree rather than continuing with the conjoint programme.

Admission to LLB Part II

If you complete LLB Part I but are not selected for LLB Part II you will probably want to pursue an alternative qualification. As you will have already completed courses for another degree in your first year, you will have laid a good foundation for further study and will in most cases be able to credit your first year Law courses to your alternative degree. You may also continue with your other degree and reapply for LLB Part II in the next intake.

Graduate admission to Part II

University graduates who wish to apply for the LLB degree can view their options on our website: law.auckland.ac.nz/apply-graduate

If you demonstrate legal aptitude (eg, by having a good Law School Admission Test (LSAT) score) you can apply for admission to LLB Part I and LLB Part II concurrently. Students who have completed the LLB Part I equivalent at another New Zealand law school, you will be selected on the basis of your grades in LAW 111G (Law and Society), LAW 131 (Legal Method) and LAW 141 (Legal Foundations), or your equivalents at another New Zealand law school, plus your best 75 points (or equivalent) from your most recent year of university study.

Students who have completed the LLB Part I equivalent at another New Zealand law school should email for application advice: undergradlaw@auckland.ac.nz

Bachelor of Laws (Honours)

The Bachelor of Laws (Honours) (LLB(Hons)) gives high-achieving LLB students the opportunity to delve deeper into an area of law, and to hone their research and writing skills.

Students who have gained a B- average in their Law courses in Parts I and II of the LLB programme will be invited to transfer to the LLB(Hons) programme. Everyone completes Parts I and II in any Honours student. This will usually be at the end of the second year of study – or for conjoint students, at the end of the third year of study, subject to meeting requirements.

The LLB(Hons) programme requires students to enrol in one additional semester, on top of their LLB programme, to complete a double-semester seminar course and a dissertation.

Part I students usually take LAW 111G (Law and Society) in Semester One. If you gain a B- (C+ for students applying under UTAS) or better in LAW 111G you can progress to LAW 131 (Legal Method) and LAW 141 (Legal Foundations) in Semester Two.

Please note: Although grades may change each year, LAW 121G and LAW 141 are offered in both Semester One and Two of each year, whereas LAW 131 and LAW 141 are offered only in Semester Two. You will be required to choose five non-Law courses totaling 75 points as a foundation for your other bachelors degree.

Find out more about individual courses at law.auckland.ac.nz/ugcourses

Transfer of Credit

As part of your Application for Admission you can apply for transfer of credit for tertiary courses completed elsewhere. If you have completed study at another New Zealand university, you can email us to find out the transfer credit you may be eligible for: undergradlaw@auckland.ac.nz

Degree structure

The LLB is made up of 480 points. It is a combination of compulsory Law courses, elective Law courses, non-Law courses from another degree programme and one General Education course.

LLB Part I

Part I students usually take LAW 111G (Law and Society) in Semester One. If you gain a B- (C+ for students applying under UTAS) or better in LAW 111G you can progress to LAW 131 (Legal Method) and LAW 141 (Legal Foundations) in Semester Two.

Please note: These grades may change each year.

LLB Part II

LLB Part II consists of five compulsory courses, which can be completed in the second year of study for those full-time students pursuing an LLB as a single degree, or across the second and third year of study for those completing conjoint degrees.

LLB Parts III and IV

In addition to taking compulsory Part III and IV papers, students are allowed to select elective courses. We offer the widest range of Law elective courses in New Zealand, with papers relating to Corporate and Commercial Law, Public, Criminal, Family, International and Environmental Law. It is important to plan ahead as not all elective courses are offered every year.

LLB conjoint structure

Apart from the Bachelor of Engineering (Honours) and Bachelor of Advanced Science (Honours), conjoint programmes with Law comprise 405 points of Law courses, 115.5 points of courses from another degree, and a 15-point General Education course. The BAdvSci(Hons)/LLB comprises 405 points of Law courses and 375 points of Science courses. The BAdvSci(Hons)/LLE comprises 345 points of Law courses and 400 points of Engineering courses.

There are several ways of structuring conjoint degrees. We advise you to consult with both faculties concerned before enrolling for your courses.

Explore your conjoint options on page 9.
Double your options

Conjoint degrees enable you to complete the requirements of two degrees simultaneously, only adding one year of study to the longest degree in most cases. Admission can be in the first year or at any point before you have passed no more than 270 points for either component degree. Continuation depends on you maintaining your academic record to a set standard.

Conjoint degrees with Law

Bachelor of Advanced Science (Honours)/Bachelor of Laws (BAdvSci(Hons)/LLB)

The BAdvSci(Hons)/LLB allows you to combine legal acumen with advanced disciplinary knowledge and scientific research skills.

Bachelor of Arts/ Bachelor of Laws (BA/LLB)

This BA/LLB lets you choose from a wide range of subjects offered by the faculties of Arts and Law. You can create your own combination of subjects, provided they comply with the course regulations of both degrees.

Bachelor of Commerce/ Bachelor of Laws (BCom/LLB)

If you intend to practice in commercial, taxation and company areas, then a BCom/LLB is an excellent choice. You will also gain a broad background suitable for a position in management or public administration.

Bachelor of Communication/ Bachelor of Laws (BC/LLB)

The BC/LLB conjoint provides you with an understanding of the roles communication and law have in our world. In addition to the legal skills and knowledge gained from the LLB degree, you will develop employment skills such as leadership, teamwork, public speaking, critical thinking, research and intercultural communication.

Bachelor of Health Sciences/ Bachelor of Laws (BHC/LLB)

The BMSc/LLB offers you a sound introduction to law and the healthcare sector. This could lead to a career in medical law, health policy, health management or healthcare ethics.

Bachelor of Music/ Bachelor of Laws (BMus/LLB)

If you want a degree that provides you with two distinct skill sets, the BMus/LLB is an excellent choice. Follow your passion for music while gaining valuable analytical, communication and research skills – and gain an understanding of legal ethics, professional responsibility and the role law plays in society.

Bachelor of Property/ Bachelor of Laws (BProp/LLB)

The conjoint BProp/LLB degree provides you with a sound background for work as a specialist legal adviser or for a management position within the property industry. In addition to the legal skills and knowledge gained from the LLB degree, you will develop an understanding of property valuation, investment, management and marketing.

Bachelor of Science/ Bachelor of Laws (BSc/LLB)

If you have an aptitude for science, a conjoint BSc/LLB degree gives you an excellent opportunity to construct a programme of study that can lead to a career in environmental law, intellectual property law, or science. This could include the fields of biotechnology, information technology and forensic science.

Career pathways

Where will your Law degree take you?

A Law degree will arm you with many transferable skills, including knowledge of the law and its implications, a sense of justice and public responsibility, analytical, research and communication skills, and an ability to work under pressure.

A degree from the University of Auckland Law School is well respected. In any given year, about half of our graduates take up positions in New Zealand law firms, while the other half begin their careers in a wide range of fields. These include accounting and consulting, business and industry, national and local government, teaching, research and journalism; and international, environmental and other non-governmental areas.

Our graduates can be found practising law in New Zealand and worldwide – many of our former students work for leading law firms in London, New York, Sydney, Hong Kong, Singapore, and other major cities. Some of our top students go on to study our LLM, MTaxS and PhD degrees. Auckland Law School offers the most extensive postgraduate programme in the country.

Our students regularly win scholarships and prizes to continue their studies overseas. Some of our recent graduates are now pursuing higher degrees at Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard, Yale, Columbia, and other top overseas universities.

Becoming a barrister and solicitor

To be admitted to the bar you must complete a three-month Professional Legal Studies course after completing the LLB or LLB(Hons) degree. There are currently two providers of this course:

- The Institute of Professional Legal Studies
- The College of Law (New Zealand)

Careers team

Perhaps you’re not sure what you want to do when you graduate or maybe you have a career path in mind but need help getting there. In either case, our in-house careers team is here to support you. They can help you engage with industry, increase your employability skills and enhance the knowledge and skills that are acquired in the classroom. They will ensure that you are adequately educated on career paths available for Law school graduates. Programmes are run throughout the year.

Career Explore Programme

The Career Explore Programme is designed to help you find out what a career in law could look like or encourage you to think about careers outside of law. It gives you practical advice on CVs and cover letters, interviews and networking techniques, and opportunities to engage with industry, including mock interviews with external organisations.

Women’s Mentoring Programme

The Women’s Mentoring Programme at Auckland Law School matches female Law students with women working in the industry. The objective of the Women’s Mentoring Programme is to offer professional development opportunities for female students with the chance to benefit from the experience and industry knowledge of a mentor.

“...A Law degree appealed to me as a medium through which anyone can serve others in whatever way they choose. Whether it’s through changing the narrative in the courts, or the decisions of Parliament there are so many opportunities a Law degree offers to cultivate change at a prodigious level.

“The most memorable part of this journey has been the friends I have made. Studying Law allows you to engage with like-minded people who typically have similar goals. This has created an environment that provides support academically and socially during our studies. I also really enjoyed being part of the Auckland Law Revue. It was a great way to meet new people and also provided a creative outlet for us all!”

Entry requirements

LLB Part I

If you have achieved the New Zealand University Entrance (UE) standard, and are admitted to another programme at the University, you will be admitted to LLB Part I. Your final offer of a place depends on two things: your admission to the University (which is subject to alteration. All students applying for admission must meet this requirement), and your performance in the UE examination. Your performance in the UE examination will be disregarded. If you are international and applying for a conjoint Postgraduate certificate or diploma, you will have to meet the requirements of the Law School as well. For more information, visit the official document, the current Calendar of the University of Auckland, to ensure they are aware of and comply with all regulations, requirements and policies. Publication date: January 2022.

For some programmes, you may be required to submit supplementary information (eg, a portfolio of work, referee reports, an online form) or to attend an interview/selection. If you are not offered a place in the programme(s) of your choice, you will receive an email outlining alternative options. Your final offer of a place depends on two things: your admission to the University (which for school leavers may depend on your final school results) and your assessment by the relevant faculty.

Money matters

The domestic student fee is based on the 2022 fees schedule for an LLB student enrolled in a full-time load of 120 points and should be used as a guide only. The international student fee is for 2023. For updated fee information, refer to auckland.ac.nz/tuition-fees. All fees are charged in a per point basis. Part-time students taking fewer than 100 points will pay proportionately lower fees.

Academic English Language Requirement

The University has an Academic English Requirement (AELR) for all its undergraduate programmes. The AELR aims to ensure you have sufficient competence in academic English to support your study at University. The AELR will not affect whether you are offered a place on a programme, and may be met through your entry qualification or through satisfactory completion of an approved course in your first year of study. Applicants who do not meet the AELR through their entrance qualification will be provided with advice at the time of enrolment. auckland.ac.nz/aedl

International students

If English is not your first language, you will need to provide proof of your English language proficiency.

For LLB Part I, this can be demonstrated by:

- An IELTS or other approved English language test score (The minimum requirement for IELTS is an overall score of 6.5, with no band less than 5.5).
- Passing the Foundation Certificate in English for Academic Purposes (FCIEAP) or the English Pathway for Undergraduate Studies (EPUS).

Graduates with degrees from outside New Zealand applying directly into LLB Part II must have an IELTS score of 6.5 with no bands less than 5.5.

If you have repeated one or more courses of LLB Part I (LAW 111G, LAW 111, LAW 141), you must have a minimum grade of 5.5 in your last attempt for re-enrolment.

For more information about English-language requirements and approved alternatives to IELTS, see auckland.ac.nz/leg-english-reqs

How to apply

It’s a two-step process to apply for and enrol in your chosen programme.

First you need to apply

Go online and complete the Application to Study form. If you haven’t already, you’ll be asked to sign up for a new account. It’s easy, and you’ll soon be underway in making your application. auckland.ac.nz/apply

If you have no prior tertiary study you must apply for a conjoint LLB programme or LLB Part I and one other bachelor’s degree programme to satisfy the Law Part I requirement for five non-Law courses.

Complete the Application to Study form

1. Complete sections one and two with your personal information.
2. In section three under ‘Select programme type’ choose ‘Bachelor’.
3. Then select ‘Bachelor of Laws’ as your option under ‘Programme’. For Majors/Specialisation’ select Law Part I.
4. Complete the rest of the required information. Note: Law Part I is only available to study at the University of Auckland City-Campus.

You will need to complete a separate Application to Study form for your other bachelor’s degree. If you’re applying for a conjoint programme you should make a Conjunct Application to Study in addition to your individual applications for the LLB and your other degree (when making this application choose the relevant conjoint option under ‘Programme’ in section three).

Next you will receive an acknowledgement email asking you to provide supporting documents (and in some cases to complete other requirements) before your application can be assessed.

We will start assessing your application for LLB Part I once you’ve submitted your application for your other degree programme(s). You can check your application status online at any time. Be patient though – an admission decision will be made within four weeks of receiving the required documents, and some documents can take longer to process than others.

If your application is successful, we’ll email you an offer – normally from mid-January. To accept or decline this offer, log onto auckland.ac.nz/apply

Dates to remember

Next you need to enrol

If your application is successful, we’ll email you an offer of place. For Semester One applications, this normally happens from mid-January. Once you’ve accepted an offer of place in a programme, you can enrol in a course.

If you need some help with the enrolment process, take an online tutorial: auckland.ac.nz/enrolment

To find out more about our subjects and courses, come in, visit us online at law.auckland.ac.nz, or email undergradlaw@auckland.ac.nz

Next you need to make sure you pay your fees auckland.ac.nz/fees

If an offer of place is still pending, you will be asked to provide supporting documents (and in some cases to complete other requirements) before your application can be assessed.

If you are an international graduate student, you must apply for a student visa (Education category) as soon as possible.

If you are a Māori or Pacific student, or a student with a disability, or from a low socio-economic background, you will be charged pay proportionately lower fees.

If you are a student with a refugee background, who is returning to the University of Auckland in 2023, you should:

- Complete an online application form at auckland.ac.nz/apply
- Tick the box requesting consideration under the targeted admission schemes

If you are a Māori or Pacific student, or a student with a disability, or a student without a degree, who is returning to the University of Auckland in 2023, you should:

- Complete an online application form at auckland.ac.nz/apply
- Tick the box requesting consideration under the targeted admission schemes

Stuck? At any point in the process you can ask for help or seek advice on auckland.ac.nz/apply

Next you need to enrol in a programme or degree course. If your application is successful, you will be enrolled in a course.

If you are international, who has been has been between a GPA of 5.0 and 6.7 for the three law courses in LLB Part I, and have an IELTS score of 7.0 with no bands less than 6, you will be enrolled in a course.

If you are a student with a disability, or enrolled at the University of Auckland in 2022, you should:

- Complete the rest of the required information.
