MBA Programmes
PGDipBus Programme

Our MBA graduates are confident decision makers in a complex and changing world

When you choose to study for your MBA at the University of Auckland Business School, you are committing to making a leadership contribution in your business and beyond; you are becoming part of a large globally networked community of people who believe in a thriving New Zealand economy; and you are making an investment to open new doors in your mind and in your career. I invite you to take this challenge and to reap the rewards.

PROFESSOR GREG WHITTRED,
Dean, the University of Auckland Business School

Employee investment pays dividends

"It's spurred me on to want to learn more, given me the tools to do that and frameworks to keep moving on to the next part of my career. The MBA makes you realise you need to use your time more ruthlessly... You can really fill your days, and have a much more fulfilled life than you probably did in the past."

Fergus Lee, ASB

Confidence to lead and succeed

"As leaders and managers we all have a responsibility to continue learning because the world is changing and business rules are changing with it. You become stale and risk getting left behind if you don't continue to gain new skills and freshen your perspectives."

Hamish Aitken, Premier Insulation

A pathway to change

"The MBA was almost a validation for me that I actually did have some strong management competencies. I wanted to prove it to myself. I feel comfortable that my decision-making is robust, and I feel confident in the decisions I make that I've considered every ramification from every angle."

Janet McBain, Dymond McBain

Shooting for new goals

"It's given me a whole new energy and made me challenge myself about continuing to grow. I want to do something that's interesting and I want it to have some meaning beyond just the bottom line."

Dianne McAteer, Netball Northern Zone

Achieving great heights

"My cohort was a fantastic group of people who all wanted to grow and learn. They had a broad mix of qualifications, experience and nationalities, and that was the challenge I needed. It provided the depth of conversation I was looking for - different experiences, views and opinions."

Roger Duncan, Air Nelson

A world of opportunities

"There are so many opportunities, so many things I hadn't even thought about. What you learn about yourself, the world, your thinking, where you're going, it just becomes a whole world of opportunities."

Nikita Sharma, Callaghan Innovation

Am I ready?

If you have ten years' work experience, strong leadership ambitions and are seeking an intellectual challenge, you may be ready to commit to one of our programmes.

There are two study pathways available at the University of Auckland Business School. They are designed to develop you into a confident leader in complex times, contributing high-value decision making to your business and beyond. Both offer after-hours programmes to fit around your current work responsibilities. The relevant pathway will depend on your existing commitments, experience and academic history.

MBA: Auckland Executive Pathway (three years)

This pathway allows you two years to complete a Postgraduate Diploma in Business (PGDipBus) in Administration, with the top students then applying to spend a further year completing their MBA. You will complete one paper in each ten-week quarter for the first two years and two papers each quarter for the third year. Classes are delivered on one or two weeknights: 5.30-8.30pm.

Currently, our PGDipBus and Auckland Executive MBA cohorts have an average age of 34, with 11 years' work experience. This pathway attracts managers mainly based in the Auckland region who are seeking to develop their leadership capability.

MBA: NZ Executive Pathway (two years)

This pathway is an intensive two-year journey to complete your MBA degree. You will complete two papers in each ten-week quarter. Classes are delivered in block format on alternate weeks: 1-7pm Fridays and 9-3pm Saturdays.

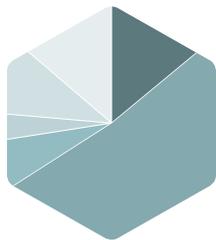

Currently, our NZ Executive MBA cohort has an average age of 41, with 18 years' work experience. This pathway attracts senior executives from across New Zealand.

What is the real time commitment?

Successful study depends on planning your time. Every graduate will tell you that you will need support from your family and work colleagues to meet the commitment. You will be actively involved in studying for 44 weeks of the year. Every year has four quarters. Each quarter cycle is ten weeks' study, one week of exams and one week break.

For each hour of lectures you will need to plan for three hours outside the classroom. This may include individual assignments, class preparation as well as study groups and group assignments.

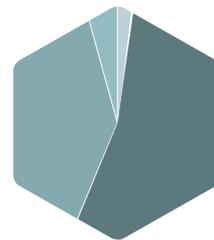

Who are my fellow students?

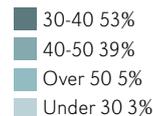

MBA students by job title

MBA students by industry

MBA students by age

MBA students by gender

What motivates my fellow students?

Our students:

- Are at a transitional point in their professional career development.
- Are poised for the greatest return on investment from exposure to new perspectives, skills and networks.
- Recognise that the value of the cohort experience rests on an individual commitment to learning and a willingness to contribute to the pool of knowledge in the classroom.
- Clearly link the quality of their learning experience to their own responsibility in meeting the expectations of the faculty, classmates and study groups.
- Have set up structural and emotional support in their homes and workplaces for their time commitment, fitness and wellbeing.

Our students are motivated to:

- Challenge their thinking
- Enhance their decision-making skills
- Accelerate their professional and personal development
- Gain new business tools and management techniques
- Develop and strengthen their personal networks

Introducing some of our teachers

The University of Auckland Business School is among one percent of business schools worldwide (and one of only five schools in Australasia) that have been awarded the coveted "triple crown" by the foremost global accrediting agencies. This means that our MBA degree has international recognition.

One of the key factors in our continued triple accreditation is the quality of our teaching faculty as judged by their peers and our alumni. Many of our teachers have international experience and bring insights from working in or with businesses in New Zealand and abroad.

You will work in groups on applied consulting projects for selected New Zealand companies, both domestically and internationally. To complement our teaching faculty and broaden perspectives, you will gain valuable insights from visiting speakers who include prominent business figures, government leaders and global commentators.

AACSB International is the largest global community of business schools and corporations dedicated to enhancing management education. It represents the highest standard of achievement for business schools worldwide.

EQUIS is the leading international system of quality assessment, improvement and accreditation of higher education institutions in management and business administration.

AMBA is an international brand recognised as the quality mark for the MBA and its awarding institution.

Member of EMBA Council

The Executive MBA Council advances executive education worldwide in a number of ways - through its partnerships, conference, and research and outreach activities.

Mid-career study is a life-changing experience. It is not about simply acquiring a set of professional skills. It is an important transitional stage in both personal and professional development as a leader and decision maker.

Making the investment in MBA study requires due diligence. Is it the right time, the right programme and the right school for you at this stage of your career path? Can you make the necessary commitment?

Do you have the support of your partner, your family and your employer? Your return on investment depends on these elements.

Join us at a Connect! information evening on the first Wednesday of the month. Here you can meet our staff and fellow candidates. You are welcome to bring your partner, friends, manager or colleagues too.

I look forward to meeting you soon.

Management — MBA study pathways

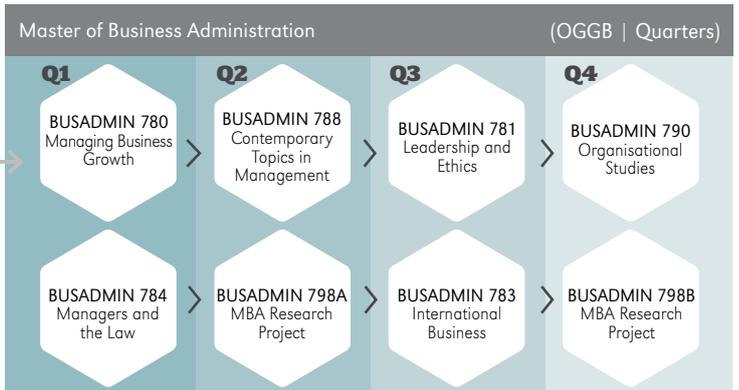

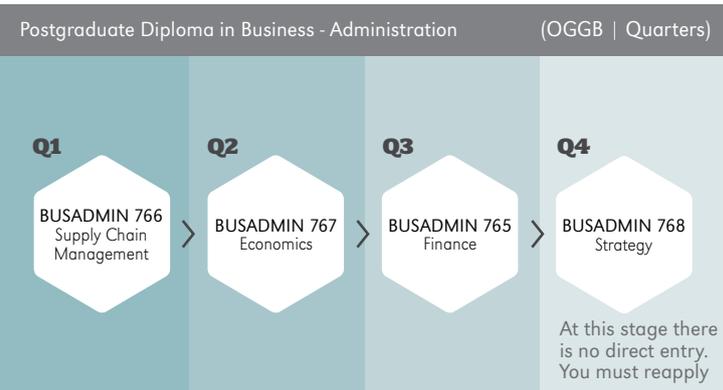

Year 2

Year 3

All papers are 15 points unless otherwise specified

For course outlines visit:
www.mba.auckland.ac.nz

When do I study?

There are two entry points every year:

Quarter One (January)

MBA: NZ Executive cohort

MBA: Auckland Executive cohort

Postgraduate Diploma in Business (PGDipBus) cohort

Quarter Three (June)

Postgraduate Diploma in Business cohort

Postgraduate Diploma in Business (PGDipBus) cohorts take one course (15 points) in each ten-week period, attending a three-hour class one night each week. Classes are normally scheduled from 5.30-8.30pm from Monday through Thursday.

MBA: Auckland Executive Pathway (the PGDipBus is a prerequisite of the MBA: Auckland Executive Pathway) cohort takes two courses (30 points) in each ten-week period, attending two three-hour classes each week. Classes are normally scheduled from 5.30-8.30pm from Monday through Thursday.

MBA: NZ Executive Pathway cohort takes two courses (30 points) in each ten-week period, attending classes on alternate weeks. Classes are normally scheduled from 1-7pm on Friday and continue from 9am-3pm on Saturday.

What are the entry criteria?

To be considered for admission in any Graduate School of Management programme, you must perform acceptably in any test of academic aptitude and/or an interview prescribed by Senate or its representative.

Mathematics Refresher Course

All students are required to complete an online, self-paced Mathematics Refresher Course to demonstrate competence in basic maths concepts.

You must also meet the following minimum criteria:

Postgraduate Diploma in Business

Completed a bachelors degree and at least two years of relevant employment experience or an approved professional qualification and at least two years relevant employment experience or completed at least five years of relevant employment experience.

MBA: Auckland Executive Pathway

Completed a PGDipBus from the University of Auckland with an average grade of B or higher (some students may be required to complete additional transitional courses) and completed at least three years relevant management experience.

MBA: NZ Executive Pathway

Completed a bachelors degree from the University of Auckland or an approved professional or equivalent qualification and completed at least three years relevant management experience or have extensive practical, professional management experience.

The University of Auckland Calendar

All students enrolling at the University of Auckland must consult its official document, the current University of Auckland Calendar, to ensure that they are aware of and comply with all regulations, requirements and policies.

www.calendar.auckland.ac.nz

How is my study structured?

The programme is designed to encourage cumulative and increasingly integrative learning, with each course building on the courses that precede it. Courses are awarded "points" towards a total of 120 for a Postgraduate Diploma in Business (PGDipBus) and a total of 240 for a Master of Business Administration degree (MBA).

In the two MBA pathways, the programme structure and course sequence are identical. The first 120 points are regarded as the "core". This is followed by 120 points of "applied" or "experiential" learning, in which students are expected to apply their core knowledge, often in practical study (project-based) and assignments.

The Graduate School of Management programmes require students to assume responsibility for their own learning by contributing to group learning and dialogue in the classroom. The academic focus in these programmes is to facilitate learning among a group of committed adult students.

What does it cost?

Indicative domestic tuition fees

Postgraduate Diploma in Business (PGDipBus)

(2 years - 120 points) $16,056.00

MBA: Auckland Executive Pathway (prerequisite PGDipBus)

(1 year - 120 points) $26,204.40

MBA: NZ Executive Pathway

(2 years - 240 points) $42,260.40

Students should budget up to $2,500 annually for additional costs including admission fee, student services fee (of $726.00 for a 120-point enrolment), textbooks and printing, and parking.

MBA students should allow for up to $5,000 in overseas travel and accommodation (over and above the tuition fees) for the International Business paper. For further fee information see www.mba.auckland.ac.nz

The fees outlined above are based on 2014 fees and are indicative for 2015.
