Preparing for Seminar 1- Huntington's Disease: Understanding a Mutation

Our first biology based seminar is next week on Thursday March 17th, 3:45pm. This week you will be:

- Downloading and READING the seminar paper and pre-seminar focus handout
- Going to your SCHOOL WORKSHOP to discuss the pre-seminar questions with your classmates and your teacher. Note: you don't have to post your answers to the pre-seminar questions on the website
- Working with your teacher and class to develop questions for the seminar from your discussions - enter these on the wiki question page.

Registering for the wiki and live chat

The question and discussion pages are protected so that only registered users can edit or write to them. If you want to ask a question or contribute to the discussion about the challenge questions you will need to login. You automatically get a username for the wiki when you register for the seminar series.

If your school has permitted access to chat during the seminars you will also be sent a username and password for the live chat.

You cannot change your live chat password.

If you forget your password email lensciencehelp@auckland.ac.nz and we will send it to you again

Congratulations to all the students who have completed their personal registration.

Make sure YOU and YOUR friends have registered.

The student registration link is on the seminar web site or directly here.

Last week's Introductory Seminar

It was great to see such enthusiastic students in both the live audience and the chat. We hope that those of you viewing at your schools or the regional centres enjoyed it too. For those of you who were unable to participate in the Introductory Seminar on the day, a recording of the seminar is now available from the Introductory Seminar web page. You can download and save it to view later: Please note (!) the file is over 300MB in size so will take some time to download over a slow connection but you can watch it direct from the web page if you prefer.
